

Laura Schlehuber

Laura Schlehuber is a first year graduate student in the Foresight program. She is currently working part-time at Ernst & Young as an actuarial and human resources consultant in Ernst & Young's Human Capital practice.

Laura has always been motivated by a desire to understand and acquire new and unique capacities in a way that keeps her "ahead of the curve." She believes that Foresight has virtually unlimited exploration possibilities and that the application of her foresight skills have boundless prospects.

Her actuarial background has already taught her how to forecast employee benefits far into the future, and, as a result of initiating her study of Foresight, is beginning to understand how these forecasting skills can be applied in many other areas of human activity and endeavor.

Laura is in her first year of Foresight and is a student member of both the World Future Society and the Association of Professional Futurists.