

Alexandra Montgomery Whittington, Adjunct Professor

Ms. Whittington teaches HDCS 4372: Forecasting for Technology Entrepreneurship. Since graduating with a Master of Science in Studies of the Future from the University of Houston-Clear Lake in 2003, she has had many opportunities to develop a versatile range of professional skills as a professional Futurist including research, publishing and teaching.

Her research focuses on the future of social issues including education, families, communities, and gender roles. She has worked in a Futurist capacity for nonprofits, corporate clients, community organizations and small futurist consulting groups. She has taught Futures Studies courses as an adjunct at the University of Houston and the University of Houston-Downtown.

Ms. Whittington has published forecasts and foresight-related articles in The Futurist magazine, the journal Futures, and the young adult book series Tackling Tomorrow Today. She has also been a guest on Radio Saigon Houston (900 AM), KPFT Pacifica's (90.1 FM) radio program "Growing Up In Houston" and Houston Community College TV's talk show "Dialogue Houston."

Ms. Whittington is a native Houstonian, and holds a B.A. in Anthropology from the University of Houston. She can be contacted at alwhitti@central.uh.edu
